

FEDERATION OF LABOR IS ASKED TO CONSIDER FLOOD OF RESOLUTIONS

Spends Third Day Thirty-Fifth Annual Convention Listening to Speeches and at Close Many Resolutions Are Introduced

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—The American Federation of Labor spent the third day of its thirty-fifth annual convention listening to speeches of fraternal delegates from this and foreign countries and concluded the day with the introduction of a flood of resolutions. Important among these were resolutions opposing the opening of coastwise shipping to foreign vessels; protesting against any alteration or repeal of the seamen's act; support of the administration program for the establishment of a merchant marine manned by American seamen; and the creation of a shipping board for the construction and purchase of vessels.

The last two were fathered by Andrew Furuseth. There were others introduced against stop-watch timing of government workmen; support of an eight hour day in all ship-building yards; employment only of American citizens in the construction of government works; survey of unemployment in the United States; better government compensation for retired and incapacitated federal employees and endorsement of the civil service retirement measure; and a resolution denouncing the "persecution of members and officers of the International Garment Workers' union in New York as a revolting surrender of the machinery of justice to the enemies of labor," and pledging funds to defend the remaining members of the union to be tried in connection with the riots of the garment workers' strike.

Indications of a contest against the Amalgamation of Steam Shovel workers with the steam and operating engineers developed today.

As yet the real issues to be fought out in the convention have failed to crop out. Election of officers will not take place until next week.

Among the fraternal delegates who spoke today was B. Suzuki, delegate from the Laborers' Friendly Society of Japan. He was the first Japanese to address the federation. Although denied a seat as a fraternal delegate, he was accorded the privileges of the convention.

The Rev. E. Guy Taylor of Sacramento, fraternal delegate of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, said if the church had the class consciousness of labor, war would end. "The church and labor should cooperate to kill militarism," he said.

He predicted a revolution if the unemployment problem was not speedily solved.

James Duncan, vice president, presided today in the absence of President Gompers.

The convention adjourned until Friday morning.

FLY OUR FLAG ARE SUSPECTED

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A request for further information regarding Great Britain's recent announcement naming a score of vessels flying neutral flags as "suspected" of German ownership, is being seriously considered by state department officials.

The newly organized trans-Atlantic line, eleven of whose ships under the American flag are on the "suspected" list, has protested to the department that, as one of its vessels already had been condemned by a French prize court, it is unwilling to allow the others to go to sea until the attitude of the allied governments is more definitely known.

All of the trans-Atlantic line ships have been transferred to American registry since the war began, but line officials say the stock of the corporation is all American-owned. The vessel seized by the French was the Solveig, which was condemned "by default." The British announcement, a copy of which has been transmitted to the state department, warns British subjects not to use the "suspected" ships, but does not state specifically they will be considered subject to seizure because of the status of their ownership.

More than 200 of the 375 miners who walked out October 28 had returned to duty before 6 o'clock this evening, the time set by former Senator Thomas Kearns, vice president and general manager of the company, as the limit for the men to return. Miners had been reporting for duty individually for several days past. Underground operations at the property were resumed this morning. The strike was called because of dissatisfaction with a hospital and compensation plan established by the company. No disorders occurred in connection with the strike.

TRAP IS LAID FOR CONTESTANT

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—The Keiths will contest before Judge J. V. Coffey in the superior court, in which Dr. Sarah J. Tedford is trying to establish the claim of Mrs. Louise Keith Thomson, an alleged daughter, as the heir of the late John M. Keith, developed a dramatic turn today when Mrs. Tedford, writing from dictation an extract from an alleged will of Keith's, wrote "serious" for "various," an error contained in the alleged will, which Mrs. Tedford had denied having written.

John L. McNab, attorney for Keith's heirs under a will that has been admitted to probate, dictated the passage as part of his cross examination of Dr. Tedford.

"I cannot write any more, I am too nervous," Dr. Tedford said. "We are satisfied," said McNab, handing the writing to the judge. "The witness can be excused." Dr. Tedford was under cross examination all day and the hearing will be continued tomorrow.
